Solvathon 2022 was conducted by Transmission, XIE on 10th June 2022, in the college premises, the event invited all the first-year students to display their levels of preparation and gain confidence on giving a test based on the questions from their university syllabus.

The students were tested on various subjects in their curriculum such as Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics and C-programming. All the questions were presented in "multiple choice question" format and students were expected to display their solving wherever needed. A total of 2 hours were given to solve the 70 marks paper. The papers were graded by the transmission team with the help of all first-year teachers and the constant support provided by them. The results were announced on 15th June 2022 in a prize distribution ceremony organized from 3.30 to 4.30 PM in the Seminar Hall, XIE. All the winners were felicitated with a certificate and cash prizes. HOD of Science and Humanities Department, Prof. Dr. Madhavi Parimi felicitated the third position holder, Mr. Melvin Tharakan with cash prize of ₹500, Principal of XIE, Dr. Y. D. Venkatesh felicitated the second position holder, Mr. Adityan Jeyamurugan with cash prize of ₹700, and Director of XIE, Fr. Dr. John Rose S.J. felicitated the first position holder, Ms Shweta Deshmukh with cash prize of ₹1000. All the participants were provided with E-certificates.

The event presented a great opportunity for all the first-year students to refresh their knowledge and practice the subjects taught to them while the student who performed exceptionally well were felicitated during the same. Team Transmission thanked all the first-year teachers for the support they showed throughout organizing the event, HOD of Science and Humanities, Prof. Dr. Madhavi Parimi for helping them throughout the organization of the event and Head of Student and Staff Welfare, Prof. Kavita Jain for her support.
